DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2, 7, 15-17, 19-22 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Coleman.

Coleman (Figures 1-6) shows an optical fiber cable comprising an optical fiber ribbon stack 14 having a plurality of optical fibers, a cushion member 15 disposed around the ribbon stack, an elastic membrane 13 surrounding the stack and the cushion member and a filler material integral with the cushion member in the space between the membrane and the stack. The cable has a buffer tube with a filler material 22 between the buffer tube and the ribbon stack. The cushion is made of a gel with suspended particles.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3-6, 8-14, 18, 23-25 and 27-32 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Coleman.

Coleman shows all the features of these claims as described in Paragraph 3 above except the shape of the cushion member, the cushion member made into a number of pieces instead of being integral, material of the cushion member so as to exhibit a specific modulus of elasticity and its form as a tape wrapped around the ribbon stack. The instant invention does not provide any reasons or specific problem to be solved by providing these features. Official notice is given that such features are well known in the art of optical fibers. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to provide these features to the Coleman's cable because this would require mere a selection of shape and material of the cushion member which involve only routine skill in the art.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kempf et al., Mullin et al., and Gartside et al. also show a cushion material around a ribbon stack.
